

Problem #1: You arrive at the front gates of your school when one of your classmates stops you. He/She tells you that they don't want to go to class today and are going to skip. They ask you to skip with them.

Problem #2: Your grade on your last English test was low. You feel bad and want to do better because you know your parents are spending good money to send you to school.

Problem #3: You've been busy with school and friends and haven't been spending very much time with your family. Even though you live in the same house, you're starting to miss them.